2010 Annual Convention

“Tradition and Vision”

October 29, 2010

Ala Moana Hotel

Honolulu, Hawaii

Welcome to the 2010 Hawaii Psychological Association Convention

E komo mai! This year's theme Tradition and Vision will highlight visionary practice models across private and public sectors of psychology, new twists on traditional efforts that place psychologists as key figures in health care service delivery and health care reform, and advocacy to enhance leadership efforts amongst psychologists in order to influence, inform and fulfill our profession's broad mission. This year's theme has inspired workshops that cover a broad range of topics that range from entrepreneurship, thriving in private practice, professional practice issues such as cyberspace and learning from the lessons learned by seasoned professionals. The convention topics allow us to reflect on history and traditional practice while at the same time introducing visionary opportunities in order for the profession to continue to blossom and expand into broader areas of service delivery.

This is not only a time to immerse yourself in the convention's educational content, but also to meet new colleagues, renew old relationships and rejuvenate and restore yourself. The presentations and events during these two days will be at the Ala Moana Hotel.

The day will begin with a Town Hall Meeting with Jill Oliveira Gray, Ph.D. (HPA President), Barbara Higa Rogers (HPA President Elect), Rosemary Adam-Terem (Past President), and Craig Robinson, Ph.D. (APA Counsel Representative) is scheduled for early Friday morning. Join in this lively conversation to discuss professional concerns you feel are most important and to help shape the state and national agenda of psychology!

The winners of the Healthy Workplace Awards (HWA) will be announced at our luncheon. This is the 11th year that the Hawaii Psychological Association (HPA), in cooperation with APA, has established the "Healthy Workplace" Awards in the State of Hawaii.

We wish to extend our kokua to our student members. We invite HPA members to sponsor students who would like to attend the convention by making a donation towards defraying student costs. Please extend your kokua for our students and write your donation in on the registration form.

We extend a warm invitation to you. We do look forward to seeing you and hope you find this convention enjoyable, informative, and stimulating.

HPA Convention Committee: Rosemary Adam-Terem, Jill Oliveira Gray, Cindi Dang, Nancy Sidun, Barbara Higa Rogers, Darryl Salvador, Kevin Bowman, Keith Pedro, William Tsushima, Susan Y. Lin, Lesley Slavin, Gabrielle Toloza, Vincent G. Tsushima, Rachael DeCosta

Using Science and Entrepreneurship to Identify Practice Markets and Opportunities

Steven Walfish, Ph.D.

Contrary to what many mental health professionals are taught, “entrepreneurship” is not a four letter word. Theoretical concepts of entrepreneurship will be presented as they apply to the development of a private practice. Special emphasis will be placed on developing quality interventions and services in niche markets. Examples of transferring empirically-based research into services that clients will need and purchase will be highlighted, as will practice opportunities for mental health professionals that fall outside the purview of managed care.

Objectives:

- Identify preferred modes of practitioners to learn about data-based research.
- Identify three characteristics of entrepreneurship and how they relate to developing services in a private practice.
- Identify three aspects of entrepreneur identity and how each relates to developing new practice activities.
- Describe how to find data-based research that can lead to the development of new practice activities.
- Identify ethical principles that apply in the development of new services in a practice.
- Describe how to transfer empirically-based research findings into the delivery of high quality services for clients to purchase.

The Presenter:

Steven Walfish, Ph.D., is a licensed psychologist and has been in independent practice in Atlanta since 2002. He received his Ph.D. in Clinical/Community Psychology from the University of South Florida in 1981. He has previously been in independent practice in Tampa, Florida and Edmonds and Everett, Washington. He is the Editor of the Independent Practitioner and has served on the Editorial Boards of several journals. He has published in the areas of substance abuse, weight loss surgery, and professional training and practice.

He is recipient of the APA Division of Consulting Psychology Award for Outstanding Research in Consulting Psychology, the Walter Barton Award for Outstanding Research in Mental Health Administration from the American College of Mental Health Administration, and the APA Division of Independent Practice Award for Mentoring.

He has been a Visiting Professor at Kennesaw State University and Georgia State University and is currently a Clinical Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Emory University School of Medicine where he supervises Postdoctoral Fellows.

His first book (co-edited with Allen Hess) Succeeding in Graduate School: The Career Guide for Psychology Students, was published by LEA in 2001. His first book on clinical practice, Financial Success in Mental Health Practice: Essential Tools and Strategies for Practitioners (with Jeff Barnett) was published by APA Books in 2008. His most recent edited book, Earning a Living Outside of Managed Mental Health Care: 50 Ways to Expand Your Practice was published in May of 2010 by APA Books. His next book Billing and Collecting for Your Mental Health Practice: Effective Strategies and Ethical Practice will be published by APA Books in 2011.

Financial Success in Independent Practice: Practical Strategies and Ethical Practice

Steven Walfish, Ph.D.

Clinicians spend a great deal of time in their training becoming excellent in practicing their craft of assessment and psychotherapy. These skills are mastered in order to deliver excellent clinical services. However, in professional training little, if any, emphasis is placed on learning, refining, and mastering the business aspects of private practice. In their book Financial Success in Mental Health Practice: Essential Tools and Strategies for Practitioners (APA Books, 2008) Walfish and Barnett present a list of Twenty Principles of Private Practice Success. This workshop presents an overview of each of these principles and how they relate to the development of a clinically effective, ethically principled, and financially sound private practice.

Objectives:

- Identify the advantages and disadvantages of choosing private practice as career a path.
- Demonstrate knowledge of components of entrepreneurship that are essential to success in private practice.
- Recognize the advantages of starting one's own practice or joining an existing practice and differing organizational structures of a practice.
- Identify other professionals that may be helpful in the operation of a successful practice and how they can be helpful.
- Recognize steps in fee setting, and the billing and collection of fees that meet ethical and legal guidelines.
- Identify methods in which psychologists can earn a living that fall out of the purview of managed care.
- Recognize the need for sound financial planning, including insurance to be purchased, to effectively assure the business and personal financial future of the private practitioner.

Research on Cultural Competence Issues and Evidence-Based Psychological Practices

Nolan Zane, Ph.D.

Cultural competence is an important and necessary condition of evidence-based practice in psychology, and, as such, EBPP can be a great catalyst for addressing ethnic and racial disparities in mental health treatment and services. The major problem involves the lack of specific strategies to guide research on developing adaptations to treatments that may be more culturally syntonetic for ethnic minority clients. Based on a review of the available research on EBPPs and treatment-relevant cultural variations, specific research strategies are presented that can enhance cultural competence in treatment and assessment.

Objectives:

- Understand the challenges in conducting research that address cultural issues in treatment.
- Identify important domains of cultural variations that may affect a client's response to many evidence-based treatments.
- Present specific research strategies that may prove productive for enhancing cultural competence in evidence-based treatments and assessments.

The Presenter:

Nolan Zane, Ph.D., is Professor of Psychology and Asian American Studies at the University of California, Davis, Director of the Asian American Center on Disparities Research, and Chair of the Department of Asian American Studies. The center is an advanced research center (P50 grant) funded by the National Institute of Mental Health and is the only national center that focuses on the mental health issues of Asian American populations and communities. Professor Zane received his bachelor's degree from Stanford University and his doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of Washington. His research focuses on the development and evaluation of culturally based sociobehavioral interventions for ethnic minority clientele, ethnocultural moderators of change in psychotherapy, and the determinants of addictive behaviors among Asian Americans. He has authored numerous articles on Asian American mental health treatment and services, cultural differences in intra- and interpersonal dynamics (e.g., self-consciousness, assertion), and addictive behavior patterns in Asian communities. He also has co-edited books on Asian American health issues (Confronting Critical Health Issues of Asian and Pacific Islander Americans) and on the psychology of Asian Americans (Handbook of Asian American Psychology and Reading in Asian American Psychology). As the Principal Investigator or Co-Principal Investigator, he has been awarded research or evaluation grants totaling over $13 million in direct costs. Professor Zane is a Fellow of the American Psychological Association, served as President of Asian American Psychological Association, and received the Distinguished Contribution Award from the Asian American Psychological Association. He has served as a consultant or grant reviewer of research for culturally-diverse populations for numerous organizations and research institutes including the National Institute on Drug Abuse, the National Institute of Mental Health, the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention, and the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research. He also chaired the Department of Asian American Studies at the University of California, Santa Barbara. In recognition of his work on cultural issues in treatment, he was appointed to the American Psychological Association Presidential Task Force on Evidence-based Psychological Practice. His current work examines cultural differences in the role of loss of face and shame in interpersonal relationships with a special focus on client and care provider interactions.

Asian American Gambling: Strategies for Prevention and Treatment

Nolan Zane, Ph.D.

Gambling has been cited as a major community problem among Asian minority groups. Anecdotal evidence suggests a high prevalence of gambling among Asians, while Asians are over-represented among problem gamblers in the general population of countries outside Asia. This workshop presents research that has examined various aspects of gambling among Asian American groups. Based on the research, specific treatment strategies are presented to address gambling problems among Asian American clients. Specifically, the issue of face is considered as a central issue in treatment.

Objectives:

- To understand the extent of gambling problems in the United States and issues involved engagement in gambling behavior and in the progression to pathological gambling.
- To gain knowledge as to which risk factors and behavioral patterns may be specific to Asian American gambling behavior.
- To apply certain strategies to effectively address cultural issues in treatment and assessment of gambling problems among Asian Americans.

Ilima

Cynthia White, M.Ed.

The presentation will define how children grieve at different developmental levels and describe behavioral issues associated with loss and trauma. Complications of grief and therapeutic interventions will also be explained.

Youth Panel on the Needs of Foster Children

Cynthia White, M.Ed.

The presentation will include current and former foster youth sharing their experiences in foster care and their recommendations for helping children cope with out-of-home placements.

11:15–12:15 Treatment for Military Women with Combat-Related PTSD

Plumeria

Janalle Kaloi-Chen, M.A.

This study reviews existing literature on combat-related PTSD in women. Empirically based cognitive-behavioral approaches enhanced with the feminist and person-centered principles may contribute to more effective treatments for military families.

11:15–12:15 Avoiding Landmines: Helping Borderline Individuals Succeed in 12-Step Programs

Carnation

Laura Andrews, B.S., Dirk Etling, Ph.D., John Donkervoet, Ph.D.

This session will help therapists facilitate recovery and avoid landmines when working with borderline personalities participating in 12-step programs. Dilemmas posed by the 4th and 5th steps will be emphasized.

11:15–12:15 Project Niu: Engaging Youth Through STEM & Environmental Education; & Robotics Hawaii

Anthurium

Erin Nishimura Horner, IsisHawaii

Project Niu engages Hawaii's youth and promotes a personal connection with the environment while posing challenging questions about the ecological impact of their own actions and those of society.

Learn about the Robotics Hawaii program and how this innovative and engaging program for Hawaii's youth is garnering national awards and promoting future leaders. Dr. Song K. Choi (Asst. Dean, UH College of Engineering; VEX Program Director and member of the statewide Robotics Organizing Committee) and Lynn Fujioka (Women in Technology, Oahu Division Project Manager, Hawaii FIRST LEGO® League board member and official site host for Hawaii Robofest) will discuss the merits of scholastic robotics as an educational and personal development tool for students and educators.

11:15–12:15 Depression or Thyroid Dysfunction? What Psychologists Need to Know
Pakalana Joann L. Shimabukuro, PsyD., Leonard J. Kryston, M.D.

Thyroid dysfunction is more prevalent than heart disease or diabetes, and often first presents with psychological symptoms. Misdiagnosis is potentially serious. We will look at what psychologists need to know.

11:15–12:15 Transpersonal Vision: Celebrating The Love Within
Ilima Yvonne N. Awana, PsyD., Fern Davis, M.A., Shena Johnson, M.A., Edward Pacheco III, Chay Lin Park

This symposium will address the history, philosophy assumptions, clinical application, and research of transpersonal psychology. Through discourse and a transpersonal experience, participants will be invited to celebrate the love within.

12:15 – 1:30 Healthy Workplace Awards Luncheon
Hibiscus

The Hawaii Psychological Association Business (BOPN) committee is proud to sponsor the 2010 Psychologically Healthy Workplace Award Luncheon. This program recognizes organizations state-wide who have demonstrated excellence in the implementation of psychologically healthy work policies and practices.

1:45 – 3:45      Integrating Sword Time Therapy Into Your Practice      2.0 CE
Plumeria      Richard M. Sword, Ph.D., Robert Hollis, Ph.D., Rosemary Sword, PsychTech

At the 2008 HPA Convention, Philip Zimbardo, Ph.D. challenged the Hawaii clinical psychology community to develop a therapy based upon his revolutionary theories as put forth in The Time Paradox. Dr. Rick and Rose Sword took on the challenge and recognized the work they were doing with veterans suffering from Posttraumatic Stress Disorder fit perfectly into Drs. Zimbardo and Boyd's theory. Sword Time Therapy has proven through longitude studies over an 18 month period to be an effective and long lasting therapeutic intervention for PTSD not only among veterans but also among civilian population. It has been successfully used to treat disorders ranging from cardiac rehabilitation to agoraphobia. The presentation this afternoon will introduce the participants as to how to integrate Sword Time Therapy into their practice and to provide an opportunity to become certified in Sword Time Therapy.

1:45 – 3:45      Lessons from Mistakes Made in Psychotherapy      2.0 CE
Carnation      William Tsushima, Ph.D., Craig Robinson, Ph.D., Rene Tillich, Ph.D., Richard Kappenberg, Ph.D., & June Ching, Ph.D.

Five experienced clinical psychologists will present incidents in their psychotherapy practice that could be perceived as "mistakes," that have inherent educational value for practitioners and students. Provocative discussion among panelists is anticipated.

1:45 – 3:45      Psychotherapy Outcomes: Improving Outcomes by 65%      2.0 CE
Anthurium      Sean Kitaoka, Ph.D.

This workshop will review psychotherapy outcome research and the major factors that contribute to positive outcomes. Specifically, attendees will learn how to improve outcomes independent of techniques or models.

1:45 – 3:45
Pakalana      What You Always Wanted to Know About Psychotropic Medication Management but Were Afraid to Ask
Aleksandra Phillips, M.D.

Psychologists frequently encounter psychotropic medications in clinical practice. This presentation addresses a range of information and issues relevant to psychotropic medication in clinical treatment and provides recommendations for psychologists to work collaboratively with prescribing physicians in order to enhance treatment outcomes.

1:45 – 2:45
Ilima      Their Stories: Using the Explanatory Model in Client-Centered Clinical Work
Susan Y. Lin, M.A.

Our histories are stories that we tell ourselves. This session introduces the use of Kleinman's explanatory model to help explore with our clients their stories and experiences with mental illness.

2:50 – 3:50
Ilima      Recent Advances in the Understanding and Treatment of Borderline Personalities
Dirk Etling, Ph.D., Laura Andrews, B.S., John Donkervoet, Ph.D., Winter Hamada, Ph.D., Kristin Keast, Ph.D., Rich Robinson, Psy.D.

This session provides an update of recent advances pertaining to psychopathological processes, assessment and diagnosis of borderline personality disorder, as well as an overview of evidence-based approaches to the treatment.

4:00 – 5:00
Plumeria      Advanced Case Presentation
Presenters: TBD

4:00 – 5:00
Ilima      Taking a Closer Look at Interdisciplinary Leadership Training
Heather McDermott, M.Ed.

A more thorough identification of successful leadership and training skills for membership on interdisciplinary health care teams will better inform training practices in the field. The aim of this study is to describe training outcomes among similarly funded Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND) training programs across the country.
